The Metro Rail Transit Line 3 (MRT3) deployed 18 running and operational trains Thursday night, almost six months after it last deployed the same number of trains, an official said yesterday.

Michael Capati, director for operations of the MRT-3, attributed the deployment of 18 operational trains to the “teamwork” of the MRT-3 and the Department of Transportation (DOTr). The MRT-3 is an attached agency of the DOTr. Capati said that the last time they deployed 18 trains was on Nov. 16, 2017.

Aside from deploying 18 trains, the MRT-3 reported zero unloading incidents over the past 17 days, which surpassed the 13 consecutive days that was recorded from Oct. 12 to 24, 2014.
