Quezon City Vice Mayor Joy Belmonte yesterday expressed support for initiatives that aim to modernize the local police.

The city council recently passed a resolution authorizing the donation of computers to the Quezon City District Police (QCPD) stations in Cubao, Project 4, Anonas and Eastwood.

“We support this resolution because it is for the improvement of our police stations. We are aware that some precincts still lack computers. That’s why the city council is working on providing some for them,” Belmonte said.

“These computers will help police keep their records better, and provide faster and more efficient services to the residents,” she added.

The resolution was authored by District 3 Councilor Eufemio Lagumbay, whose office would fund the computers.

“Hopefully, we can provide for more QCPD precincts, especially those that need computers to improve peace and order in the city,” Belmonte said.
