More Quezon City (QC) residents can now receive financial aid from the local government via PayMaya as the city announced a faster way to register under its Kalingang QC program.

The QC local government has previously tapped PayMaya for the disbursement of allowances for its student scholars. It was among the first local government units to utilize digital payments via PayMaya for a more efficient delivery of government services.

Senior citizens, persons with disability and solo parents can register through the Kalingang QC online payout site at <http://qceservices.quezoncity.gov.ph/> and just choose PayMaya as payment method option. They just need to input their mobile number linked to their PayMaya accounts.

Creating a PayMaya account is also easy as they can just download the app to register to be able to access a wide array of digital financial services.

Encashing funds will also be more convenient with PayMaya as the beneficiaries can simply go to any one of the over 30,000 Smart Padala agents near them.

“Quezon City joins other local government units who are finding innovative solutions to the unique problems we face today, particularly in providing financial aid to communities and families who need it the most during this time. As we all face the effects of this pandemic that have severely impacted many lives, it’s important for government to ensure that no one is left behind, which is an integral part of our ‘financial inclusion’ mission at PayMaya,” Orlando B. Veja, PayMaya founder and CEO, said.
