Quezon City Police District (QCPD) frontliners yesterday received gift packs from the QC local government in a ceremony dubbed as “Pamaskong Handog sa Panahong ng Pandemya.” Police personnel each received five kilos of rice and a noche buena package. On the other hand, QCPD director P/Brig. Gen. Danilo Macerin received a check, the amount of which shall later be equally distributed to all personnel.

In holding the event, the QC local government expressed its support for officers of the Philippine National Police, particularly to the QCPD men and women, especially during this period of the coronavirus pandemic. The city said it is imperative it shows support by giving them gifts for their families. “It is also our way of showing our love to you as frontliners who have been battling this pandemic,” a city official said.
