To avoid confusion stemming from fake news or misinformation, Quezon City Mayor Joy Belmonte has called on qualified beneficiaries of the national government's cash assistance program to refer to the list posted by the local government and their respective barangays on social media pages and other conspicuous areas in their communities.

"Please look at the official social media page of the city government and your barangay for the list of names. Here you will also find information about the time and venue of providing assistance as well as the requirements that need to be brought to claim it," Mayor Belmonte said.

"The barangay will also decide whether stubs will be used, color coding, per street, alphabetical name or per purok is the mode of distribution to ensure proper assistance is provided and minimum health standards are maintained," she added.

The list of beneficiaries will also be posted in other conspicuous places within the barangay and other areas where the people can easily see the list for reference, as per guidelines from the national government.
