Quezon City (QC) plans to expand its 93-kilometer bike lane network to 161 kilometers to further promote the alternative mode of transportation, city officials said over the weekend.

The expansion was pledged by QC officials during the 82nd Bike Run Activity Sunday, during which Metro Manila Development Authority chairperson Benjamin “Benhur” Abalos Jr. lauded the city’s support for bikers.

With Abalos and the QC officials led by Mayor Joy Belmonte, during the activity, was Transportation Assistant Secretary Mark Steven Pastor.

They joined regular bikers in cycling along the bike lanes from the Quezon City Hall to the Elliptical Road, Commonwealth Avenue and back.
