She was known for being a long-serving Senator of the Republic of the Philippines, an elected judge of the International Criminal Court, and the sole woman recipient of the Philippines' highest national honor, the Quezon Service Cross;

WHEREAS, in 1983 she had become the youngest presiding judge in the Regional Trial Court of Quezon City. "No bribes or extortion" was the first rule of her courtroom;

The dream to make Quezon City a center for scientific study in the Philippines and Asia was not just the dream of then President Ferdinand Emmanuel Edralin Marcos, but also that of President Ramon del Fierro Magsaysay (1907-1957) in the 1950s. Beside the northeastern BSP Security Plant Complex is the first DOST lot, which is the Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Administration (PAGASA);

WHEREAS, BIR Road, a National Tertiary Road as per DPWH Road Map, traverses from North Avenue to Quezon Avenue, and was named after the Ministry of Finance's Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR) National Office, which was constructed in 1976. The BIR was formally established in 1904, during the American Occupation of the Philippines, and was later housed in the Department of Finance Building in Manila (now the National Museum of Anthropology). Upon its construction, the Quezon City BIR complex occupied the central lot on the eastbound south lane of BIR Road to its NIA Road intersection;

WHEREAS, among the landmarks that occupies Agham Road are the New Central Business District, the Occupational Safety and Health Center, the Ombudsman, the Philippine Children's Medical Center and the Bureau of Fire Protection National Headquarters;
