THE Quezon City government has bagged two accolades at the 11th annual Asia-Pacific Stevie Awards, including a gold award for its innovative official website.

Mayor Joy Belmonte said the local government's official website captured a Gold Stevie after topping the Innovation in Government Websites category.

The Public Affairs and Innovation Services Department, headed by Engelbert Apostol, notched a Bronze Stevie in the Most Innovative Communications Team of the Year class, she added.

“This is a great recognition for our efforts to quickly provide QCitizens with all city government services just by clicking on our website,” she said. The city government has incorporated into its official website (quezoncity.gov.ph) its various services and online systems under the QC E-Services portal.
